DORSA NOURI

Front-end Developer

As a front-end developer with over 3 years of experience, I specialize in creating and managing responsive web applications and components while adhering to best practices. I prioritize teamwork, communication, and delivering robust, secure, modular, and maintainable code. With a track record of completing more than 7 projects, including 3 large-scale ones, I have expertise in framework architecture and collaboration. These skills enable me to contribute to successful cross-functional teamwork and high-quality product delivery.
